STUCK FOR IDEAS? DON'T WORRY

Want to run a fundraising event but short on ideas?
We've pulled together a selection below to get your mind working.

Shine for ShelterBox
Estimate £80 - £150

Every winter, ShelterBox invites people to come together to share food and fun. Whether you hold a fundraising dinner at your workplace or a picnic in your home, you'll be changing lives with every bite. Find out more at shelterbox.org/shine

Birthday party
Estimate £50 - £150

Ask friends and family to donate money instead of gifts or cards, they can do this on social media or you could set up a fundraising page. Or go one step further and host a birthday party where you can celebrate and donate with your nearest and dearest.

Host an auction
Estimate £50 - £200

Either host an auction in person or turn to platforms like eBay. Get friends and family to donate odds and ends or crafted items, set a base price and get out your gavel.

Host a gaming night
Estimate £25 - £500

We're not just talking about Scrabble or Monopoly, how about playing your favourite video game for 24 hours, you could even stream the event. Ask everyone to pay to play and maximise fundraising by selling refreshments.

Clothes swap
Estimate £30 - £80

Revamp your wardrobe by organising a clothes swap. Ask everyone to bring along good quality items of clothing, put them on rails and then let the swapping commence! Good for your pocket and the planet, too. Charge an entry fee or ask for donations.

Movie night
Estimate £20 - £50

Get your friends over for a film night, pick a theme (e.g. spooky, festive or old school classics) and take donations on entry. If you're hosting in the summer, why not rent a projector and host it in your garden.
